June 2, 2024 at 5:00pm (PT)

John F. Rothmann is a renowned radio talk show host, popular lecturer and political and foreign policy consultant.

John will discuss Donald Trump’s 34 convictions, Justice Alito’s upside-down flags, Project 25, Congress, the Supreme Court, our democracy and ... what the future might hold if we do or don’t get out and vote this year.

John was a long-time host on KGO Radio until the station’s management suddenly changed its format. John has been a professor at the University of San Francisco Fromm Institute since 2004 and he has been involved in many political campaigns on the national, state and local levels. John has published a wide range of articles and books on education, the Middle East and on American political history.

Today, John Rothmann hosts a popular podcast called: “Around the Political World with John Rothmann.”

Interview Guest:

John F. Rothmann is a radio talk show host on KGO 810 AM in San Francisco. John first joined the KGO family in 1996.

A frequent lecturer on American politics and the presidency, John has spoken on over 150 university campuses throughout the United States, Canada and Israel. John has been a professor at the Fromm Institute at the University of San Francisco since 2004.

John has been involved in many political campaigns on the national, state and local levels including Richard Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign and Senator Frank Church's California Presidential campaign in 1976. He served as Chief of Staff to Senator Milton Marks and as Field Representative for Senator Quentin Kopp, both of San Francisco.

John's passion is his 15,000-volume library, one of the finest private libraries in the country, specializing in American political history and political biography.
