"You can observe a lot by watching." -Yogi Berra

You have been watching, but have you been observing?

If you have been observing and taking it all in, then you realize that our democracy is taking its last breaths. For over four decades, Republicans have been intentionally "drowning government in a bathtub."

In the last several years, the Republican Party has been succeeding in destroying governmental institutions, such as closing all three pandemic offices just before a worldwide pandemic swept the country and the world.

The moment has arrived. Will enough of us fight back, in every way we can, or will our democratic republic die kicking and screaming in the tub water?

One bizarre, upside-down, undemocratic danger to our democracy is that it is governed by a minority, not by a majority of "We the People." And, that minority just happens to hate democracy. Democracy gets in the way of maximizing their power and profits.

Our interview guest, Mark Karlin, will share the current "buzz" on who the minority is, how they rule, and what ideology the authoritarians want to foist on the rest of us. We'll be asking him what listeners can Keep doing, Stop doing, and Start doing to fight for our democracy!

Interview Guest:

Mark Karlin is the founder, editor, and publisher of BuzzFlash.com. Over 20 years ago, BuzzFlash was among the first reader-powered progressive sites on the Internet. It aggressively exposes the undermining of democracy and the ongoing peril of the Trump administration. Mark Karlin holds a Bachelor's Degree in English, cum laude, from Yale University and a Master's Degree in English from the University of Illinois. He resides in the Midwest, which provides him with a political perspective from outside the Washington, DC, bubble.
